10. [Redacted] Returned the call of David Cahn, in the office of Representative Angelo Roncallo (R., N. Y.), who wanted to know how many Agency employees would be covered by the Congressman's prisoner-of-war bill, H. R. 4294, which, among other things, would give double retirement credit under the CIA Retirement Act and other Federal staff retirement systems for periods during which the individual was either in a missing status or a prisoner of war. Cahn explained he wanted to include this information in a "Dear Colleague" letter on the legislation. He said he was a former Foreign Service Officer and felt that sometimes members of the Foreign Service and CIA were overlooked in legislation and Roncallo agreed that they should be specifically included in H. R. 4294. I explained to Cahn why specific numbers of CIA beneficiaries would not be wise and he agreed to insert only a general statement on CIA in the letter.
